President's Corner ~

The HCC Board of Directors brainstormed for several hours at a long-range planning meeting last month. We came to basically two unsurprising conclusions. The viability of our club is dependent on NEW MEMBERSHIPS and increased usage of our current members. Hence, the brainstorming began that night as to how we can achieve these most important goals. Here's a recap of our conclusions:

- Restaurant: Service Club meetings
Banquet business
Wednesday night mini events
Retain and encourage new members
Better staff training
- Pool: Extend Friday night hours
More club events at pool
Market to families/more game nights
- Golf: Host a fun and unique tournament that will encourage EVERYONE to participate.
- Other: Discussion was had about use of unused land/property.

You may notice that some of these changes already have been made. In the coming months you may see some changes (hopefully for the better) as we strive to reach our goals. Please be patient as we try out some new ideas. Also be patient with our new wait staff. They're still learning. Any serious complaints, please inform David.

Beginning this Wednesday, in compliance with our goal of entertaining Wednesday mini-events, we will offer an all-you-can-eat family-style chicken dinner for $9.95 adults and $5 children.

Please remember, David is a professional club manager. His job is to manage the club. He is certainly open to positive feedback and constructive suggestions. He's also personable and aims to please. Please do your share as members by helping him do his job and letting him do his job. Thanks for all your support. See you at the Club! Especially on Wednesdays...

2008 KIDS KLUB GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP WINNERS ANNOUNCED

Threatening skies and wet conditions did nothing to dampen the spirits of 42 enthusiastic junior golfers who participated in the 2nd Annual Kids Klub Championship held on Thursday, June 26, 2008. The tournament was the much anticipated culmination of the three-week Junior Golf Clinic offered at the Hannibal Country Club and taught by PGA certified professional Jeffrey Kent.

Nearly 50 young people between the ages of 4 and 16 took part in the lessons during the month of June. The goal of the Kids Klub was to teach the fundamentals of the sport, which include rules of safe play and the important aspects of golf etiquette. Throughout the clinic, Jeffery used a variety of fun and unique training drills geared to the skill level of each age group.

Mr. Kent was assisted during the championship by numerous parent volunteers who walked along with the “pee wee” golfers (ages 3-6) to help keep score and to ensure the safety of these young athletes as they played a shortened 2-hole format. Course marshals rode along with the older youth who played more holes and a longer venue to complete the championship.

Excitement and anticipation ran high as the tournament began. The assembled gallery remained respectfully quiet as each participant teed the ball up and hit that scary first shot to begin his round. Every player received encouraging cheers and applause during the event.

As the flights finished, scores were quickly posted on the “Event Board” by the pro. Anxious youngsters munched on cookies and gathered around the score sheet to calculate who the winners would be. Mr. Kent not only provided trophies for the low scorer in each age group, but presented a medal to every child who “graduated” from the Kids Club golf camp.

The low scorers of the championship by flights were:

Ages 3-6: Max Boland, son of Bobbie and Lynn Boland

Ages 7-10: Trevor Watson, son of Lee Ann and Chris Watson

Ages 11-13: Charlie Bauman, son of Richard and Debbie Baumann

Ages 14-18: Greg Baldwin, son of Clay and April Baldwin

The complete list of youngsters who completed the golf clinic include:

(Ages 3-6) Heath Barrett, Abbey Baumann, Preston Bennett, Lydia Boland, Cami Bross, Connor Gilmore, Miranda Gilmore, Jack Kirby, Avery Schuenke, Keaton Scott, Katie Smith, Courtland Watson, and Drew Tweedy.

(Ages 7-10) Elise Baumann, Jack Baumann, Connor Bross, John Maune, Jack Richards, Kasen Rodeman, Kyler Rodeman, Richy Lynn Rodgers, Caleb Smith, Luke Smith, Amanda Swanson, Noah Ward, Brendan Watson, Trevor Watson, John Jon Zielinski, and Samantha Zielinski.

(Ages 11-13) Alec Abel, Alex Addison, Charlie Baumann, Scott Cockrell, Abby Conn, Connor Doyle, Andrew Gilstrap, Sean Kraus, Gus Meyer, Andrew Richards, Kael Rodeman, Thomas Rodgers, Alec Voss, and Sarah Zielinski.

(Ages 14-18) Greg Baldwin, Bill Burke, and Evan Harder.

The fun and friendly competition will continue throughout the summer on Friday mornings, beginning at 9 a.m.
